/EINPresswire.com/ -- When entrepreneurial people have the intellect and extreme knowledge to run their own businesses they are generally met with overwhelming success. When they are also compassionate and extremely benevolent individuals they often run companies that make a positive difference in thousands of lives.

Clara is a highly regarded nurse, therapist, Pastor, and President and founder of a home health care practice Mid Delta Home Health and Hospice.

"I began nursing from 1970 through 1978 and during that time I noticed how a tremendous amount of patients were coming into the hospital for the same illnesses," says Clara. "This prompted me to start my own health agency assured that I could do a superior job teaching patients to manage their chronic illness. My goal ultimately became helping people stay healthy and live longer happier lives."

Family owned and operated since 1978, Mid Delta will be celebrating its 40th anniversary this upcoming year. In addition to effectively assisting thousands of patients, Clara has made a tremendous economic impact on her close-knit community by hiring capable young men and women to become productive, successful citizens and to date she has over 700 assiduous, dedicated employees from nurses, home health aides, social workers plus a full-time dietician and respiratory employer. With all her amazing accomplishments including being the first African American nurse to be Director of nurses at her community hospital, Clara is unquestionably the epitome of success and achievement.

"I'm thoroughly animated and full of energy so every day is bright and promising," says Clara. "But on those trying unsettling, days I'm reminded of a particularly uplifting scripture 'I will never leave you or forsake you' which encourages and reassures me how God is my pillar and I can get by through my unwavering faith."

As a well-regarded preacher, Clara reminds churchgoers God wants us to prosper but be also be mindful if you remain obedient to His word and you will live in abundance and good fortune.

“Acknowledge God first and let nothing stop you from working your purpose in life,” says Clara. “When you work diligently at acquiring your goals then you will let nothing discourage you.”

Clara has no plans to retire anytime soon in fact she is still training more capable, knowledgeable individuals to work for the continued success of her business. This summer she has wonderful plans to travel on a wonderful mission trip to Africa.

“There is no way I could have been in business for forty years unless this was Gods purpose for me and the thoughtful and compassionate deeds I enjoy doing for others,” says Clara. “As the scripture says, ‘I am the vine you are the branches if a man abides in me you will bear much fruit,’ so if we truly believe in the Father, Son, and Holy Spirit we will succeed and reach our destiny, so my most significant message is let nothing stop you, put God first and foremost, and you will absolutely overcome.”
