

St Barts shows 30% growth in Villa bookings for March according to Exceptional Villas

World's most trusted villa rental company sees growth in St Barts Villa rental bookings

NEW YORK, USA, March 27, 2018 /EINPresswire.com/ -- It is time to start making vacation plans for St Barts this Summer. Exceptional Villas, leading luxury villa rental company have announced that while some hotels are closed until the end of 2018, their villas are available to book now.

The island has made a huge recovery since the hurricane, and while it was a devastating time for the people and the properties on the island, the positive thing is that a lot of owners took the opportunity to renovate their villas during this time, and now they look even better than before.

The majority of the charter flights are on pre-Irma schedules, therefore getting to the island is just as easy as this time last year. The beachfront hotels on the island such as the Eden Rock hotel which is owned by Pippa Middleton's in-laws will reopen this December.

we have had many guests travel to the island over the last few months to show their support for their beloved island”

Niamh McCarthy

Villas that previously had access to the Eden Rock Hotel now have access to the beautiful temporary pop up serviced beach at Lorient that is available to guests booking villas through Exceptional Villas.

When the Eden Rock hotel reopens in December, it will be unveiling a transformation of its rooms and public areas along with offering a new restaurant, spa, hairdresser's, barber and a much more extensive boutique.

The design is in collaboration with Martin Brudnizki Design Studio, and all will be revealed closer to the opening date. Exceptional Villas are encouraging their clients to visit the island this summer and to get in early because with many of the hotels closed; the villas on the island are even in higher demand.

St Barts Specialist Niamh McCarthy said, “we have had many guests travel to the island over the last few months to show their support for their beloved island”. They have all come back with amazing comments on how much they enjoyed their visit. St Barts is as picturesque as ever, the beaches are still beautiful, and all the shops and restaurants are open and ready to welcome you.”

The island has 4,000 bookings so far for March, and this is a 30% increase from March 2017 showing that Irma has made the island stronger and more popular than ever. Exceptional villas believe St Barths is the place to be this Summer and are ready to find their clients the perfect villa on the island. Click Here for more information
