

Leading analyst firm recognizes N2N's Illuminate Platform for rapid API creation and API management capabilities

DULUTH, GEORGIA, USA, March 30, 2018 /EINPresswire.com/ -- N2N's Illuminate Platform has been recognized by leading analyst firm Ovum for SaaS integration and rapid API creation and management. According to Ovum, "Integration is the lifeblood of digital economy and APIs are flexible interfaces to digital business services. N2N has developed its Illuminate platform from the ground up as a cloud-based application and data integration platform offering rapid API creation and API management capabilities."

Ovum highlights the integration challenges SME's are experiencing in the market today and the need for simplified API management"

Kiran Kodithala, CEO and Founder of N2N.

N2N was featured in Ovum's latest "On the Radar," a series of research notes about vendors bringing innovative ideas, products and business models to the market. "On the Radar" vendors bear watching for their potential impact on markets.

Ovum recommends the Illuminate Platform to small- and medium-sized enterprises (SMEs) and "institutions looking for a cloud-based integration platform for application and data integration, and legacy modernization."

"N2N Illuminate offers a simple, API-led integration approach for a range of use cases, particularly for the higher education vertical and a good "price-performance" proposition for SaaS integration and rapid API creation and API management for SMEs", said Saurabh Sharma, Principal Analyst at Ovum.

"Ovum highlights the integration challenges SME's are experiencing in the market today and the need for simplified API management," said Kiran Kodithala, CEO and Founder of N2N. "The report also recognizes the current trajectory of N2N as a company along with our product roadmap and validates the strategic growth we are hoping to achieve over the next two to three years."
