/EINPresswire.com/ -- Ken Ferderer, Managing Partner at InnoVacient,

selected to judge Maryland Cybersecurity Awards event for second consecutive year.

Thursday, March 29, 2018

Ken Ferderer, InnoVacient's Managing Partner, was selected as a judge for the Maryland Cybersecurity Awards Event held on March 27, 2018. Mr. Ferderer was asked to judge the Innovator or the Year category which was won this year by Enveil and their new encryption technology for data in use. This is the second consecutive year Mr. Ferderer has been selected to judge this preeminent event for cyber innovation.

Before a sell-out crowd of over 300 attendees at the American Visionary Art Museum in Baltimore, 13 awards were presented to Maryland companies and individuals judged to have outstanding cybersecurity products, services or to have made a substantial contribution to the cybersecurity industry. Mr. Ferderer's involvement in this event is part of InnoVacient's focus on Strategic Transformation and innovation in the field of cybersecurity.

InnoVacient is a key partner of the State of Maryland's cyber initiatives and The Cybersecurity Association of Maryland, Inc. (CAMI) with a relationship dating back to 2015. InnoVacient has provided ongoing advisory services and has helped sponsor and deliver the CyberMaryland conference, a global cyber event featuring Maryland as the premiere hub for cyber innovation.

"It was an honor, once again, to have Ken Ferderer join our distinguished panel of judges for the Cybersecurity Awards program. Maryland continues to be recognized as a leader in cybersecurity innovation, and Mr. Ferderer's involvement is part of our organization's strategy to showcase Maryland cyber innovation and our brand around the world. Having Ken, a recognized thought leader in innovation strategy and global commercialization, deeply involved was critical in the judging of these award-winning cyber innovations," says Stacey Smith, CAMI Executive Director.

"InnoVacient's involvement with the Maryland Cybersecurity Awards program is part of our ongoing commitment to Strategic Transformation and ongoing innovation in the areas of cybersecurity and cyber resilience. We are extremely proud to participate in this great event and help these great cyber companies, the CAMI organization and the State of Maryland get the recognition they all deserve." says Ken Ferderer, Managing Partner, InnoVacient.
