

RunningBeltMax to Expand Product Line

RunningBeltMax, makers of a popular running waist pack, will expand their product line to include hydration backpacks.

YARDLEY, PA, 19067, March 30, 2018 /EINPresswire.com/ -- RunningBeltMax, a division of Coal Hill Capital Inc., announced Friday a product line expansion into hydration backpacks for runners, hikers, cyclists, and outdoor enthusiasts.

Michelle Nipper, COO, comments "We spent the winter months designing and developing a stylish backpack that will appeal to people on extended trips outdoors where they need to carry water and supplies. We're thrilled to have a comfortable and attractive design which is now in the production process."

Ms. Nipper continues: "We expect our new RunningBagMax product to be available by Summer 2018. It will be a nice compliment to our already successful RunningBeltMax which allows runners, walkers and hikers to carry their smart phones, keys, and other small objects. We developed the RunningBagMax because sometimes you need to carry just a bit more. We have the same commitment to high quality that you currently get with the RunningBeltMax."

RunningBeltMax is currently available in 3 color trims through www.runningbeltmax.com or on Amazon.

Coal Hill Capital Inc. invests in online businesses including www.runningbeltmax.com and www.luxurybathcollection.com.
