

Midex has sold 11 million tokens this week.

The international financial platform Midex sold 11,000,000 tokens during the last three days and continues the tokensale until the 15th of April.

HONG KONG, HONG KONG, April 6, 2018 /EINPresswire.com/ -- Midex causes several reasons for such a dashing boom around its tokensale.

During first months of Midex tokensale, a launch of the legal crypto exchange with a reliable security system was announced, which helped the company to increase the concernment in the project.”

CEO of Midex, Dmitry Machikhin

So, the first reason is launch really working licensed Midex Exchange which was announced during the pre-sale. Investors were able to check out the demo version of exchange within the pre-sale. And now, everyone can test the exchange to the fullest and take part in filling liquidity on the Midex’s website. So, it is really a working project with a clear structure of fees and roadmap.

The second case is the support of the company by investors worldwide and different large companies, also venture funds and great projects such as Bancor. Owing to the support of world leaders, the information about the project in the media and different social networks is widely spread. These actions led to the connection of great amount of major investors. Also, there was an increase of subscriber activity in Midex official social networks.

The third and most important reason is Midex’s technical support. Users can ask anything of their interest about the work of our financial platform or any question about the cryptocurrency industry through round-the-clock consultancy. And moreover, Midex support solves any emerging issues.

CEO of Midex, Dmitry Machikhin, explains the sharp demand for the company's tokens by the large amount of work performed. “During first months of Midex tokensale, a launch of the legal crypto exchange with a reliable security system was announced, which helped the company to increase the concernment in the project among large institutional investors from different parts of the world. So, this fact confirms that the creation of Midex financial platform is a prospective project with great future”.

Nowadays, token price has risen. People can buy 1 MDX for $1,2. And the price will rise depending on the number of sold tokens. The tokensale will last until April 15th, 2018.

Midex Exchange is a platform for all types of operations with cryptocurrencies which is licensed in Estonia. A powerful international team of lawyers, Swiss bankers, and well-known blockchain enthusiasts are involved in the creation of Midex exchange.
