

Tarps Now Prepares for 2018 Hurricane Season with Extended Line of Hurricane Recovery Products

Company Gears up to Meet Intense Demand for Tarp Covering Materials needed for the 2018 Hurricane Season

ST. JOSEPH, MICHIGAN, UNITED STATES, April 10, 2018 /EINPresswire.com/ -- St. Joseph, Michigan, United States – Tuesday, April 10, 2018

In the wake of the devastating effects of Hurricane Maria upon Puerto Rico, leading supplier Tarps Now® has expanded its compliment of Hurricane Recovery Products. The company has stepped up its efforts to meet demand in preparation for the 2018 hurricane season, which begins on June 1st through November, as this is the time frame when tropical cyclones usually develop. To better prepare to meet the disaster recovery needs encountered throughout the Western Hemisphere, the company now offers many essential tarp related supplies that are needed for disaster recovery. Such tarp materials are made from durable materials such as water resistant canvas, vinyl, polyester and other durable materials. These tarp coverings are often protected with polyurethane, which provides resistance to moisture, mildew and rot, and allows them to work properly as a protective covering during ensuing months following a major storm related disaster.

A spokesperson for Tarps Now® said, "Our company is now keenly focused on being ready for emergencies on a national scale so that we can help support disaster relief efforts on a more timely basis. By example, availability of heavy duty waterproof tarp coverings needs to be swift, as these materials effectively block water and help deflect high winds when secured properly. We often find that the immediate use of heavy duty waterproof tarp coverings being to secure damaged roofing, as this provides immediate relief to occupants, while providing the means to protect against even more significant damages following a storm."

The spokesperson added, "We have noted how ill-prepared governmental agencies, businesses and homeowners were during the 2017 hurricane season, so were now taking steps to encourage such entities in high risk areas to engage in stockpiling tarp materials in order to meet an almost certain future demand following severe hurricanes and storms."

Tarps Now® offers a full array of Hurricane Recovery Products meeting the needs of the general public, businesses, state, federal, military and other governmental agencies throughout the Western Hemisphere. Company team members are ready to assist questions posed by municipal, state and federal agencies, as well as a businesses and homeowners recovering from hurricane where homes, vehicles, boats or buildings with a wide range of protective tarp coverings.
