

Coupit and Concierge Announce Revolutionary Partnership

LOS ANGELES, CALIFORNIA, UNITED STATES, April 11, 2018 /EINPresswire.com/ -- In one of the first and most innovative programs to integrate blockchain technology with online travel, Coupit, a new cryptocurrency platform destined to become the go-to open marketplace for e-commerce, has announced its partnership with Concierge, a travel booking marketplace connecting consumers and vendors to discuss deal details with 0% fees or commissions.

Coupit is a decentralized marketplace built on the NEO blockchain that provides a robust incentive program for businesses and consumers. Coupit is slated to be the Amazon.com of cryptocurrency.

The Concierge.io Travel Booking Marketplace, positioned to become the blockchain equivalent of Priceline, will use NEO technology for its booking ledger, providing direct, commission-free bookings and seamless peer-to-peer communication.

"Our partnership with Concierge confirms the role of blockchain technology in e-commerce," says Coupit CEO Andrew Hamilton. "By integrating a simple plug-in to our marketplace, Concierge will join our rewards program and become the go-to destination for online travel booking."

Coupit token presale is May 12.
