eDisclosure leader adds Relativity's cloud-based platform led by Relativity Certified Master

April 16, 2018

LONDON – Complete Discovery Source (CDS), a leading end-to-end eDiscovery company, announced today that it has added RelativityOne to its portfolio of services in the United Kingdom. RelativityOne offers clients the full suite of Relativity tools, including processing, review, production, and analytics, along with immediate access to upgrades and new features as they are released. CDS will deliver RelativityOne as a standalone SaaS offering as well as in a hybrid approach with on-premises deployments of Relativity.

CDS's UK RelativityOne offering will be led by Mark Anderson, Senior Project Consultant, and Relativity Certified Master. The Master designation is held by less than 1% of Relativity users and represents the highest level of expertise and experience in the platform. "CDS is dedicated to providing the best combination of leading-edge technology supported by expert services and consulting to help solve the most challenging eDisclosure matters," said Mark Anderson. "RelativityOne allows CDS to deliver the same high level of service while providing an aggressive pricing structure in order to help clients improve workflows and reduce costs."

"We'd like to congratulate CDS's Mark Anderson on achieving the designation of Relativity Master," said Nick Robertson, Chief Operating Officer at Relativity. "Achieving our highest user-certification is no small task, and showcases Mark's unique ability to provide a great Relativity experience in the UK and across the globe."

In addition to its RelativityOne offering, CDS provides complete, end-to-end eDiscovery and eDisclosure services including forensic collections and investigations, the application of analytics including technology assisted review (TAR) and early case assessment (ECA), and GDPR compliance solutions. The company also offers technology-driven managed review services to help clients manage the expanding amount of electronically stored information (ESI) involved in today's litigation landscape.

"We're excited that CDS has added RelativityOne to their UK portfolio," said Steve Couling, VP of International at Relativity. "The addition of our SaaS product to their robust eDiscovery capabilities will benefit their UK clients looking for a comprehensive and flexible cloud-based platform."
