LONDON, UNITED KINGDOM, April 18, 2018 /EINPresswire.com/ -- GPSWOX, a GPS tracking software platform designed for both personal and business deployment, providing solutions for vehicle tracking, GPS fleet management, and individual tracking applications, this week was awarded three different distinctions from Financeonline.com, a free platform providing B2B and SaaS solutions today.

Awarded the Super Software 2018 Award, the Expert's Choice 2018 Award, and the Great User Experience 2018 Award, GPSWOX earned a top three spot as one of the best fleet management software producers on the platform today. The GPSWOX server is designed to track mobile, person, boat, bicycle, cargo, truck, and vehicle, providing real-time notifications, information, reports, and so forth.

"We're making fleet management more convenient, insightful, and systematically smarter today, leveraging our proprietary software technology," said Martynas Kavaliauskas, Founder and CEO of GPSWOX. "Working hard to perfect our craft, our software enables users to set up notifications for tracked vehicles exact movements, speeds, stops, and more. When it's all done, downloadable reports in PDF and excel format provide a comprehensive picture for every user."

The software enables companies to dispatch drivers more efficiently, identify problem employees, monitor and protect the safety of vehicles and drivers, provide consumers with precise arrival times for deliveries, supply insightful information about vehicle speed, fuel consumption, and travel history.

"We're provided fleet owners with a high degree of control over drivers and vehicles, finally leveraging power to properly manage their business," said Kavaliauskas. "Further mitigating road accidents while improving driving habits, GPSWOX reduces delays and helps fleets to save on fuel consumption. As a passionate and dedicated team, we want to thank financeonline.com for their three separate award distinctions. We look forward to many more years of making fleet management a smart-tech industry today."

Overall GPSWOX features include real-time tracking, notifications, history and reports, fuel savings, geofencing, POI and tools, mobile apps, SMS gateway, accessories, and family trackers.

Additionally, GPSWOX recently released a family locator app, enabling users to track family members in real-time or preview a 30-day history. App users receive alerts when children leave home and arrive places, as well as if they are traveling over the speed limit.

GPSWOX is based out of the UK, serving consumers in the great EU and US markets. To date, more than 60,000 global customers are leveraging the tracking software.
