FARMINGTON HILLS , MICHIGAN , U.S., April 18, 2018 /EINPresswire.com/ -- The Detroit chapter of TiE is organizing an interactive session with Karthik Ramasamy, Co-Founder and Chief Product Officer, Streamlio at Tech Town Detroit, Michigan on Wednesday, April 25, 2018 - 5:30 pm - 7:30 pm.

Karthik has more than 20 years of experience including being CPO of Big Data startup that got acquired by Twitter. He is an entrepreneurial, energetic executive and technologist with strong leadership skills. Extensive background in technology, engineering, product management and business development. Intimately familiar with trends and drivers in Big Data, Cloud Applications, Data Center and Network technologies. He is the author of the best selling book "Network Routing - Algorithms, Protocols and Architectures", several publications and ten patents in large scale data processing.

"We are excited to have the smart, hardworking and dynamic technologist Karthik Ramasamy to address and engage with the entrepreneurial community. Stop by to learn more about Heron, the real-time engine that replaced #apachestorm at Twitter.", said Tel Ganesan, President TiE Detroit.

In accepting the invitation to be the speaker at the TiE Detroit monthly event, Karthik Ramasamy said, "I will be discussing on my entrepreneurial journey and the need for a fast data platform to handle streaming and real-time data. We will also discuss how Streamlio helps companies react to data as it arrives, at a fraction of the cost and complexity. I hope to see everybody there."

"All are cordially invited to attend the keynote with Karthik Ramasamy. Admission is FREE but limited to the first 50 and registration is mandatory.", said Jacqueline Perry, Executive Director, TiE Detroit. Online registration and more information are immediately available at www.detroit.tie.org Click Here to register directly.
