

2nd Annual: Highly Potent Active Pharmaceutical Ingredients Conference – Under 2 Weeks Left!

LONDON, UNITED KINGDOM, May 10, 2018 /EINPresswire.com/ -- SMI's 2nd annual conference and workshops on Highly Potent Active Pharmaceutical Ingredients will be taking place in London UK, between the 21st - 23rd May 2018. There is still time to register online, with special rates available.

Hear from the speakers themselves, who will be presenting key topics and issues within highly potent APIs, especially discussing the future of cross contamination issues.

"Look at ADCs, highly potent APIs that previously were too toxic (including too narrow a therapeutic window) have been reborn when used in a much lower but highly targeted manner." - [CHAIR] - HPAPI Project Services

"I believe that continuous manufacturing and robotic systems will be a real game changer for the HPAPI industry. The industry is just in the early stages of this rapidly developing technology." - Affygility Solutions

"The growing demand for drugs containing HPAPIs and the increased need for targeted therapeutics strengthen the importance of biotechnology, due to the high selectivity of biological drugs in connection with their very specific mechanism of action." - Gedeon Richter
