

More real estate agents can now access the GREL platform with their newly launched subscription model

The newly launched GREL subscription model provides ease of access and ensures affordability even for 3rd world countries so no agent misses out on success!

PALO ALTO, CALIFORNIA, UNITED STATES, May 19, 2018
/EINPresswire.com/ -- Global Real Estate Licence is proud to launch their subscription model for real estate agents to complete their real estate licence. The business model shift greatly benefits real estate agents by offering an approach more affordable. The platform is offering their licence editions and their newly launched 17 real estate designations to members around the world through its subscription model, extended the ease of access to all users.

“This shift came as another milestones in GREL’s aggressive roadmap we have, consistently looking to provide value to our members.” Said Shahla Jalali, COO of GREL. “ Consumer behaviour with online purchases and interactions across all industries have proven that consumer subscribes to SAAS products which offer them either entertainment, productivity or value. This is evident through subscribers from companies such as Netflix, Spotify and Amazon. Given the value our members receive, it seemed natural to lean towards a subscriptions model which more users can also take advantage of.”

The Global Real Estate Licence platforms extend its subscript model for new users looking to strengthen their businesses opportunities from all aspects of the real estate industries. The platform's ease of use allows members to gain value through the online courses, and to continue this value to the long series of tools provides, along with more than 300+ sales scripts.

The seamless integration allow users to subscribe and access their platform with the newly updated fresh look launched by GREL.
