PALO ALTO, CALIFORNIA, UNITED STATES, May 23, 2018

/EINPresswire.com/ -- With the abundance of technology available, the real estate industry can also now take advantage of online learning to better their real estate performance. Global Real Estate Licence has launched their series of designations, focusing on specific aspects of the real estate market. Ranging from receiving a certificate to working with first time home buyers, to breaking into the luxury home real estate market, real estate agents can choose to become specialists in their desired area of expertise.

“There is a wide spectrum of real estate niches which real estate agents can become experts in. A division of specialty exists in all industries, from lawyers to doctors, yet the specifics of dealing with one of the largest assets an individual can possess is left to generalists to work with,” claims Shahla, Jalali, CEO of Global Real Estate Licence. “The release of specialist designations is aimed to allow real estate agents to attract more clients and achieve a higher business outcome. We have seen agents double or triple their income by focusing on a niche clientele and mastering their local market as an expert, which clients are naturally attracted to.”

The Global Real Estate Licence designations offer more than 17 areas of specialty, in addition to the GREL editions. All real estate courses are offered through the online learning and offer a set-paced learning model, which contributes to a higher retention and success rate. Each of the license editions and designations also offers their own series of tools and scripts associated with the online course to ensure agents receive the full range of sales success.
