

Cryptocurrency E-tailer Coupit Commences Token Presale

GRANTS PASS, OREGON, UNITED STATES, May 11, 2018 /EINPresswire.com/ -- Coupit, the revolutionary cryptocurrency marketplace and incentive program that will be the blockchain equivalent of Amazon, Groupon and Craigslist, releases its first tokens on the NEO blockchain Saturday, May 12.

Due to favorable presale token pricing, Coupit CEO Andrew Hamilton predicts that all 475 million presale tokens will sell quickly. The token price increases by a cent at each of five stages leading to the June 16 official initial coin offering (ICO).

The Coupit affiliate platform uses an NEP-5 token to combine a reward ecosystem with a giant e-commerce marketplace. Users can exchange rewards with each other using a smartphone app.

The Coupit platform is expected to replace Yelp and other review sites because Coupit's blockchain technology verifies patrons posting reviews and doesn't reward specific types of reviews.

Coupit advisor John McAfee, who will attend Coupit's Beverly Hills launch party May 19, sees Coupit making the Fortune 500 within three years.
