KDG's small business IT support team now provides HR Tech Support to help businesses prevent insider data breaches.

"Roughly 75 percent of business data breaches are the result of internal actions, whether intentional or accidental, taken by employees," says Kenny Maciborski, business analyst at KDG.

KDG's team is hoping to decrease this percentage through a variety of services that focus on cyber best-practices, employee training, and endpoint monitoring. KDG stresses that their services are not a replacement for a business's IT team, but an added precaution meant to keep businesses safe.

For example, KDG will take care of a business's onboarding and offboarding processes, making sure computers are prepared when new employees start and cleaned of their data when old employees leave.

The tech management team at KDG can also eliminate costly business distractions by blocking unsavory websites and social media profiles, stopping incoming threats with endpoint monitoring software, and educating employees on best email practices through phishing tests and webinars.

This service is currently being offered at 10 dollars per month per employee. To learn more about HR Tech Support from KDG, contact the Lehigh Valley tech support team by visiting <http://www.kyledavidgroup.com/contact>
