Nowadays, more and more people are shifting towards work-from-home jobs given the freedom and perks these provide. The practice of working from home is on rise and has a wide range of benefits. Research firm Gallup shows that remote workers can be more productive and the additional flexibility can be helpful in closing the gender gap.

Crossover is redefining the way people work, believing that brick and mortar offices are artifacts of ancient history. Their remote work model enables people to travel the world while working remotely, and enables mothers to carry on working without hindering their career growth, for example.

Teams from every corner of the earth are building the workplace of the future and work from home opportunities are key to unlocking the potential today. The aim is to connect companies to the best talent from around the world and provide a seamless end to end solution for remote team management. Crossover recruits and screens only those with exemplary skills and drive to work with the world's best businesses.

The Partnership of HireTale and Crossover marks the mutual idea shared by the organisations, the firm belief that talented people should not be restricted by their geography. Vivek Jain, CEO of HireTale, said, “After the launch of CampusNext for optimized campus hiring by organizations, HireTale sees this as another step forward to enable the people from any corner of the country to meet the opportunity they deserve by this association.”

Describing the alliance, Global Recruiting Strategist with Crossover, Barbara Albert Clive said “Our association with HireTale goes back almost 3 years and has been a mutually fruitful partnership. HireTale has always extended full support to us with our ever-changing and dynamic company strategies. They have been fully responsive towards our account and worked on innovative ideas to make the hiring process successful for us. It is surely one of the top IT job boards to work with in India.”

The unique HireTale methodology includes the steps of understanding the client’s exact requirements, pitching openings to highly specific audiences, and helping interested professionals with queries and the application process. This enables the candidates to have more power to make an informed decision and be aware of the immense possibilities they can achieve in their careers.
