

Tango Tile Introduces Two New Collections from the Tile District

BOSTON, MA, USA, June 6, 2018 /EINPresswire.com/ -- Tango Tile is thrilled to add two distinctive collections to its retail offerings. Both are from the Tile District, a boutique, artisan design house and both reflect its unique and fresh aesthetics.

Bricks! is an unusual shape measuring 9 ½" long by 2 ¼" wide, a new look and a new way for ceramic tiles to decorate space. District Bricks! has the appearance of old bricks, once painted, now aging gracefully; and Weathered Bricks! mimics wood panels left to nature to become more charming with time. As Susan Hager, Tango Tile's president, observed, "unlike naturally aged bricks and wood, Bricks! doesn't peel or fade or ever look less fabulous than the day it was installed. It is "weathered" to perfection and no more. As with all our artisan collections, it is the glaze that make the tile exceptional. The 13 colors are mottled and then given a slightly distressed finished to achieve a 'refined rustic' look.

The Tile District Cement Collection is all about newness in a very old material. Cement is a new medium for the Tile District, so it brought a fresh eye to that to an old building stand-by. Neither modern nor traditional, it's timeless and classic. Offered in 13 original patterns in neutral colorways which work well with the trend to soft greys and taupes.

Again, from Susan Hager, “We were happy with our cement offerings and felt they were complete. Then the Tile District introduced a new encaustic cement line, and we had to add it to our store. It's a collection for customers who thought they could never love cement!”

These new offerings join a portfolio of tile collections from other acclaimed artisans which are unique and exclusive to Tango Tile. Tango Tile showcases custom, hand-made tile along with a large selection of beautiful basics in ceramic, porcelain, cement, glass, natural stone and more. Because Tango Tile is an on-line retailer, it is available for shoppers to browse anytime and from anywhere they wish. In response to consumers and designers need to research and source products online, Tango Tile offers a free sampling program to “see before you buy”.
