About Philipp Pieper

Philipp is a serial tech entrepreneur and became interested in decentralized technologies in 2015, when interacting with BitTorrent, Inc. and the Mozilla Foundation. After holding various private equity and management positions within Deutsche Bank and Allianz Group, Philipp was founder and CEO of Proxemic, a global data provider for digital media buyers (acquired by comScore in 2015), and is mentor at Stanford’s StartX, Singularity University, and TechCode. He holds degrees in engineering and business administration and attended Berlin University of Technology and UC Berkeley, Haas School of Business.

About Michael Kimelman

Michael Kimelman is the bestselling author of “Confessions of a Wall Street Insider” and the Founding Partner and Editor-in-Chief of Crypto.IQ, a strategic advisory and investment firm with a focus on digital assets. Michael is a dynamic speaker, who uses the lessons of his own life to offer inspiration and insight to others — from formerly incarcerated youth to global CEOs — on overcoming personal and professional challenges. His mission is to empower people with the skills and mindset to become resilient and prosper in the face of adversity. Michael was an associate at Sullivan & Cromwell before founding and acting as Managing Partner of Incremental Capital, a New York-based hedge fund. Crypto.IQ is a premier advisory firm providing expert research, education, and advice in the world of crypto assets. The company is unique in that it combines the unparalleled expertise of crypto-pioneer Charlie Shrem with the unparalleled market knowledge of three Wall Street experts with more than 100 years combined financial industry experience. The company acts as an advisor and investor for companies in the cryptocurrency space and publishes a monthly newsletter and several other training publications focused on bringing crypto to the masses.

About Lou Kerner

I started my career as an equity analyst following media companies at Merrill Lynch & Goldman Sachs. In 2000, I went to work for Bill Gross at Idealab! as CEO of The .tv Corporation. Then, with one of the original founders, we acquired Bolt a leading social networking site that grew to over 20 million monthly uniques. Then I was an angel investor, then I started my first Fund, became a Partner at Flight VC, and now I'm 100% at CryptoOracle.io

About Marshal Webb

I'm a passionate and driven individual with a strong focus on Information Security. After starting college at the age of 12, I discovered the hallmarks of what would become an insatiable journey into the far reaches of computing. I've worked with industry leaders first hand, having continuously striven to solve some of the most pressing issues that affect the internet community as a whole. Information security expert and three-time award winner of government sponsored bug bounties.
