

TraceGains Publishes Case Study: “The ‘Secret Sauce’ is Superior Supply Chain Management”

Mullins Food Products Inc, industry-leading sauce manufacturer, reaps significant benefits by leveraging TraceGains solutions.

WESTMINSTER, CO, UNITED STATES, June 12, 2018 /EINPresswire.com/ -- TraceGains, the leading compliance software solution, revolutionizing information exchange across the supply chain for food, beverage, and CPG companies, recently published a case study with Mullins Food Products Inc. that addresses the challenges Mullins Food Products faced prior to adopting TraceGains, the solutions they chose, and the outcomes.

Mullins Food Products is a leading sauce manufacturer, boasting 80 years in the industry. The company's 330,000-square-foot facility produces millions of gallons of liquid food products each year, which incorporate 550 raw materials from more than 125 ingredient and packing suppliers. With this production, Mullins Food Products manages more than 10,000 required documents.

“Mullins Food Products have been a terrific partner,” TraceGains CEO Gary Nowacki said. “With TraceGains, Mullins has been able to better collaborate with their suppliers and leverage that partnership to maintain their high standards and principles.”

Overall, it's a great system if you're looking for something to organize and streamline your process.”

Jamie Krystofiak, Quality Assurance Manager at Mullins Food Products

new document management programs in place from TraceGains, Mullins could pull up all requested documents within seconds.

“Because TraceGains is a ‘living’ system, all of the documents are present and up-to-date,” Krystofiak added.

Mullins streamlined communication with its vendors and shifted the burden of managing more than 10,000 documents away from QA. Communication was improved as every department could log into the TraceGains system and find what they needed, when they needed it.
