

New Hampshire artist Liese Gauthier releases Plato Series of abstract paintings

Original abstract paintings, available online, for art lovers seeking innovative new work.

CENTER TUFTONBORO, NEW HAMPSHIRE , UNITED STATES OF AMERICA, June 14, 2018 /EINPresswire.com/ -- This all-new series features over fifteen new works full of energy, movement, and depth. Gauthier's unusual and evocative combinations of paint and collage elements always cause a stir and are certain to sell fast. Described as "perfect and poetic chaos" these pieces are ideal for art collectors longing for something new, unique and collectable. Each painting is created through a buildup process of many layers over multiple paintings sessions -- creating compositions infused with a sense of history, depth and visual interest.

Drawing a line between classical philosophy and contemporary expression, Liese's latest series contains paintings titled after phrases from Plato's Republic. Liese explains, "The ancient wisdom connection is more about questions than answers. Art is about joy, energy, movement and surprises. These paintings reflect my ideas about how we would like to live."
