NEW YORK, NEW YORK, UNITED STATES, June 25, 2018

BINGE creates an actual branded channel that can be viewed on over 50 platforms, including: APPLE TV, ROKU, SAMSUNG, SONY and 47 others, for your cat to be the star.

Evidence is everywhere that cats are where it is at. A new exhibition called "How Cats Took Over The Internet" has opened at the Museum of Moving Images in New York.

The exhibition looks at the history of how they rose to internet fame, and why people like them so much.

Almost half of all original YouTube videos are of people's pets, and around 26 billion views are just for cats, making them the single most popular category.

Some cats have even become famous, and earn millions of dollars, after their owners posted their pictures online. BINGE has created this opportunity for hundreds of cat owners wanting to get into this market.
