

KDG's Custom Software Development Team Named One of Philadelphia's Best Two Years in a Row

The custom software development team at KDG has been recognized by research firm Clutch for the second year in a row.

ALLENTOWN, PA, UNITED STATES, June 27, 2018 /EINPresswire.com/ -- For the second year in a row, KDG's Allentown-based custom software development team has been named one of the best in Philadelphia by the B2B research firm, Clutch. KDG's award-winning development team has been named the #2 team in the Philadelphia metro region, as it was in 2017.

“We’re honored to be recognized once again this year,” says John Lamont, Director of Development at KDG. “What makes this recognition all the more important is that it comes directly from our clients, who have shown us constant support, numerous referrals, and patience through our growing pains.”

We’re honored to be recognized once again this year.”

John Lamont, Director of Development

Clutch named KDG a market leader in the Philadelphia area based on client interviews, customer ratings, and detailed industry research and analysis. Hundreds of firms in and around Philadelphia were considered, but only a few were chosen as proven industry leaders.

For over 17 years, KDG's software development team has built award-winning custom applications for some of the nation's leading businesses. Custom CRM development is among the company's most popular services, helping businesses organize customer data, streamline sales processes, and more.
