HYDERABAD, TELANGANA, INDIA, June 28, 2018

/EINPresswire.com/ -- According to the new market research report by IndustryARC titled “Infection Prevention and Control Market By Infections (Microbial and Others) By Antimicrobial Drugs (Antibacterial & Others) By Accessories and Equipment (Disinfectants and Others) By End User (Equipment & Drug Usage) & By Geography-Forecast (2018 – 2023)”, the market is driven by advancements in personal protective equipment, disinfectors, and hand disinfectants.

North America dominates the Infection Prevention and Control Market

North America dominates the Infection Prevention and Control Market during the forecast period. It is expected to generate revenue of $74.3 billion by 2023 at a CAGR of 4.5%. 30.85% of the globally registered hospitals are present in the Americas, according to WHO. The ageing population in the US, Canada, and Mexico, enhances the demand for healthcare services and facilities. The reduction in the immune system and the susceptibility of individuals to microbes will increase the rate of infection in North America. This factor enhances the growth of the Infection prevention and control in the region. Europe is the second largest region in the market, followed by RoW and Asia Pacific.
