

Robert Tweleit Volunteers for Catholic Church to Help Fellow Parishioners

Robert Tweleit of the Houston PD spends his free time volunteering at his local Catholic Church.

HOUSTON, TX, UNITED STATES, June 28, 2018 /EINPresswire.com/ -- Faith and the practice of that faith come in many forms. For some, having faith in God is enough. For others, going to church regularly satisfies their spiritual awakening.

However, for Robert Tweleit, he follows the Lord's will and goes above and beyond the average call of Catholicism. Instead of simply attending church functions and sitting in a pew every Sunday, he volunteers for the church.

As a Catholic, Officer Robert Tweleit is called to help those less fortunate, give tithes, and spread God's word through his actions. He takes pride in his religion and uses it as a gateway to do good in the world.

Helping Those Less Fortunate

Robert Tweleit is an officer of the law. Therefore, he has seen his fair share of misfortune throughout his job. He knows what happens when people are desperate; when they feel alone in the world.

Fortunately, through volunteering at Tweleit's Catholic church, he has also learned what a difference a helping hand can make. Officer Tweleit has seen, with his own eyes, how something as simple as showing kindness can discourage criminal behavior.

However, Tweleit doesn't do it for that. He has also seen many people throughout his volunteerism that are God-fearing, good people. He has helped plenty of people that he knows would never lose faith in God or His children. Regardless of their struggles, he has witnessed strength and faith that is truly awe-inspiring.

Tithes

Tweleit knows that he is blessed. He loves his job as a police officer and with that job, he can provide for his family. His job also gives him the financial freedom to help others, by giving his time and money to those in need.

In addition to physically volunteering, Tweleit does everything he can to help those in need by giving tithes to the Catholic Church.

Whether the funds go to help a foreign country in need, or they remain in the parish is irrelevant. To Tweleit, the only thing he cares about is that his tithes are going to people in need.

Spreading God's Word through Actions

Being in law enforcement, Officer Tweleit knows that actions speak louder than words.

Preaching to people about God and His works don't always get the message across. Most of the time, leading by example is the only way to truly serve the Lord.

Tweleit knows this from experience. Thus, he volunteers with the Catholic church to better serve God. He understands that his actions are held in much higher regard than promises. He is content in knowing he is making a difference. Instead of just telling people who great his life is, by volunteering, he is showing them.

Plus, he is giving people hope of working towards a life that they can be proud of. Tweleit is actively showing people that it doesn't matter who they are, or what they've done. They are still worth more than they could ever know in God's eyes.

In summation, Robert Tweleit is proud of all he has accomplished through his volunteerism. At work, he punishes people who break the law. Yet, through the Catholic church, he knows he is making a difference in people's lives.

When he is volunteering, he isn't a police officer. He is simply a human being, doing what he can to better the lives of his fellow-man.
