

Chainium announces platform 1.0 release and first stage equity blockchain.

Chainium represents the future of equity. We promise to deliver a modern marketplace for businesses and investors to raise capital and buy and sell shares.

LONDON, UNITED_KINGDOM, July 5, 2018 /EINPresswire.com/ -- Fresh off the back of recent exciting partnership announcements Chainium are moving ahead with their outlined development schedule. Today marks the release of version one of the platform that will eventually change the way business raise funds and investors buy and sell shares. The platform release is supported by the first public facing version of the equity blockchain.

The Chainium blockchain solution which neatly combines the power of decentralised ledgers and smart oracles to effectively manage the public and private requirements of communication and interaction between businesses and shareholders, will deliver a fairer and more accessible system for everyone.

Sascha Ragtschaa CEO of Chainium

By building the world's first dual blockchain equity network. Chainium directly connects business owners with investors, by cutting out the middlemen. Chainium's solution will enable businesses to grow – from capital-raising, through to secondary markets for share trading, through to managing and communicating with their shareholders.

The share market is in decline with share ownership declining year by year. Our platform will reinvigorate equity and provide a “contemporary equity market” which is as hyper-connected as our lives.”

Both the platform and the blockchain are still under development, following the planned “epics” we can expect to see these evolve with early business adopters expected to begin the onboarding process fairly soon.
