

Christine Rose to be Featured on CUTV News Radio

BONNEY LAKE, WASHINGTON, UNITED STATES, July 6, 2018 /EINPresswire.com/ -- Women executives and business owners are generally confident in their roles. But in this post-#MeToo world with unprecedented change taking place, how prepared are we for the unexpected? How do we handle an increased workload, ask for a promotion, deal with a demanding boss, carve our niche as a business owner, or excel at work with so much demand in our personal lives? What if there was an exceptional coach with the expertise to help us accomplish our goals?

Christine Rose, ACC is an extraordinary Business and Executive Coach and founder and owner of Christine Rose Coaching and Consulting.

“I aspire to give back and help others live their best lives,” says Christine. “It is my unrelenting passion to share with other women that we don’t have to be stuck and we really can shift into a life that is far greater than we ever imagined for ourselves.”

Having experienced the distress of growing up in an abusive household, and navigating demands of changing careers and parenting, Christine’s past challenges help her identify with her clients’ hurdles. But it was when she hired a coach to guide her through a nerve-wracking divorce, that she reached a turning point. Christine was so moved by the deep impact of coaching on her life that after she retired at age 53 from a rewarding career, she began to study coaching, finding her calling.

“I spent such a tremendous period of my life feeling powerless,” says Christine. “Hiring a coach helped improve every aspect of my life: relationships, work, health, finances, faith, and self-confidence.” According to Christine coaching is powerful for helping accomplish the impossible and overcome the obstacles that hold us back. Assisting business women to thrive in leadership roles is her forte, and she’s pleased when her clients accomplish their dreams and make valuable contributions to society.

“We all possess inner wisdom,” says Christine. “This is true whether we’re already doing great and would like greater success, or we’re desperately struggling. Coaching facilitates moments of clarity. When we align with this wisdom, we make intentional choices which move us in the right direction. We are free to release our best selves to bring positive change to the world.”

A certified Taylor Protocols CVI coach, Christine offers her clients access to the most accurate, reliable assessment available helping clients know themselves at the deepest level. Living in alignment with themselves gives them a sense of purpose and meaning bringing authentic happiness.

“My mission to empower as many women as possible to design and live their best future,” says Christine. “Everyone can co-create their best future and we can absolutely write a triumphant ending to our stories.”
