Three Horses by Steven Pituch

Steven Pituch has been serious about his photography for over 50 years.

Specializing in both digital and film, Pituch enjoys the noir quality of black and white film, using cameras and lenses that are often more than 30 years old. Pituch's favorite film format is 4" by 5" sheet film, which requires a traditional view camera complete with bellows, focusing cloth, and viewing ground glass. He prefers to print his own work, and uses the finest archival materials available. A recently retired engineer, he looks forward to making photographic portraits of people and animals in a variety of environments. “If I can cause an emotional impact in someone viewing one of my photographs, which may very well mimic the feelings that I had when I pressed the shutter, then my efforts in creating that image will have been worthwhile.”

Steven's exhibit will remain on display through July 31st. All Spotlight exhibits are free and open to the public. For more information visit www.halletoakgallery.com
