NAPA, CA, US, July 10, 2018

/EINPresswire.com/ -- mFood food truck discovery app now available on Apple App Store

Android version available within a month
Today, Feral Innovations, Inc. announced the immediate availability of mFood for iOS, a food truck discovery and services app with national coverage.

“mFood brings together publicly available schedule and location information for over 26,000 food trucks across the country into a single, easy to use mobile app. In addition, if a vendor registers with mFood, they can upload their truck and food images, maintain their schedules and menus, and optionally turn on live tracking and in-app food ordering, giving their customers an unprecedented degree of certainty and convenience.” said Ferdinand Rios, CEO at Feral Innovations, Inc..

Many consumers have already benefited from using mFood. Ricardo Segui, a merchandising manager covering a large metropolitan area, began using mFood while the product was in beta. mFood enables Mr. Segui to easily find interesting places to eat along his work route and to share those locations with his coworkers.

“This is such a great app!” said Ricardo Segui. “My job takes me all over New York City. With mFood, I can easily find food trucks wherever I am and, using the Messages extension, I can let a coworker know where we can meet to eat.”

mFood is a new app on the Apple App Store and is the first step in Feral Innovations, Inc.’s commitment to deliver best in class applications and services for the mobile food industry. mFood is available for immediate download on the Apple App store and soon on the Google Play Store. Founded in 2016, Feral Innovations, Inc. is positioning itself to become the worldwide leader in the mobile food services industry. The company plans to offer a wide range of apps and services to support mobile food vendors and their customers.
