

BitForex Announces Well-known Tech-Expert Mr. Robert Mao As Its Tech Advisor

NEWYORK, NEW YORK, UNITED STATES, July 18, 2018

/EINPresswire.com/ -- Mr. Robert Mao (Mao Zhihong), the founder of ArcBlock has been formally announced to be the technical advisor of the digital-asset exchange BitForex on July 13th, 2018. By accepting the invitation, Mr. Mao will offer his expertise making available his technical support for the underlying blockchain technology of BitForex. Through this partnership, Mr. Mao will set up exchange resources for the advanced layout of ArcBlock's applied ecosystem.

In addition to solving common Blockchain problems such as poor performance, not being user friendly, high costs, platform lock-in, and lack of more advanced features, building and deploying decentralized blockchain applications with ArcBlock has significant advantages over the vendor-specific frameworks available in today's market. The entire ArcBlock service is driven by the token economy. Rather than a basic service platform, ArcBlock is an economy driven by incentives that encourage the blockchain community to work together to build a better ecosystem.

ArcBlock is a self-evolving ecosystem—not just a software platform built by one centralized organization. ArcBlock, Inc. and the ArcBlock Foundation are only jump starting the project the ArcBlock Project; the platform will continue to develop and grow on its own. And it is doing so through their partnership with BitForex through the advisory of ArcBlock's founder.

BitForex has a lot to offer to its users and partners. It is a one-stop-shop for crypto users - a digital-asset trading platform which offer its users top coins such as BTC, ETH, NEO as well as over a hundred high-quality project's tokens for trading, digital derivatives and is about to launch its own token, namely BF Token.

The digital-asset exchange has just launched the 'Crypto Futures Contract Trading Simulation

Robert Mao

Digital-Asset Trading Platform

Contest'. When users participate in this trading simulation specially created for futures contracts, they will automatically join the draw to win up to 1 million BF Tokens, among other high-quality tokens such as TRX, ELF, ACT and KCASH. Find more information about the contest in our website.
