Walking in the footsteps of big-name musicians is really humbling and a little intimidating. It also gives me inspiration and confidence that we are on the right track; making music we love.”

Megs Mclean

Megs McLean exclaimed: “Walking in the footsteps of big-name musicians who have graced this stage is really humbling and a little intimidating. It also gives me inspiration and confidence that we are on the right track; crossing genre boundaries and making the music that we love. Seattle is the birthplace of new sounds and I am thrilled “Crunge” is one of them.”

About Mural Amphitheatre:

The world-famous Space Needle serves as the backdrop for the Puget Sound Region's only mid-size amphitheater located in the heart of Seattle Center just minutes from downtown Seattle. It was designed by artist Paul Horiuchi in 1962 using 160 color variations of glass, to evoke the natural beauty and colors of the Northwest. The mural acted then and now as a sound-reflecting acoustic backdrop for an Amphitheatre stage. The Amphitheatre serves as a primary venue for concerts during the major summer festivals.
