IntelliBoard, the leading analytic and reporting service for multiple LMS platforms is the newest Business Affiliate for the Association of Educational Service Agencies (AESAs). IntelliBoard brings its reporting extension for the Moodle™ Open Source Learning Management System and Powerschool integration with the Moodle™ LMS to the AESA network.

John Bass, COO, AESA

As a Moodle Premium Integrator, IntelliBoard leverages the rich data stores captured within the Moodle™ LMS to significantly augment reporting and analytics. Easy-to-use reports, widgets and analytics help inform educational decisions; institutions worldwide use IntelliBoard to track at-risk learners, engagement, compliance and measure the effectiveness of their online learning platform.

With an emphasis on the K12 classroom, IntelliBoard bridges the gap between districts using the Moodle™ LMS and PowerSchool SIS, saving valuable time. The IntelliBoard Admin dashboard provides leadership instant access to district-wide data, and parents see a clearer picture of their student's success and progress. Grades are automatically synced between both platforms when an assignment is submitted, courses are created with a single click and students in PowerSchool are instantly created and enrolled in the Moodle system. IntelliBoard has 120+ reports, analytics and tools, and the list continues to grow fueled by client requests.

"Our districts are investing in Learning Management Systems (LMS) to individualize instruction, provide 24/7 access to content and deliver asynchronous learning. We are excited to partner with IntelliBoard to measure the effectiveness of that investment by monitoring instructor and learner engagement, identifying mastery as well as intervention and providing activity statistics to impact instructional decisions. We foresee IntelliBoard playing an integral role in teaching and learning throughout our ESAs," said John Bass, AESA Chief Operating Officer.
