COLUMBIA, MARYLAND, USA, August 8, 2018 /EINPresswire.com/ -- STS International, Inc., a leading end-to-end solutions provider in Command, Control, Communications, Computers, Cyber-Defense, Combat Systems, Intelligence, Surveillance, and Reconnaissance and a Veteran-Owned business, will be among local cybersecurity experts providing critical information and advice to businesses at the Maryland Chamber of Commerce's event "Cybersecurity for Small to Medium Businesses: The state of cyber." STS' Director of Information Security Services, Chris Caruso, will be presenting "State of cyber threat: A presentation on real security breaches and how they can affect your business."

The threat environment changes daily, our adversaries only have to get it right once. At STS, cybersecurity is everyone's responsibility.”

Chris Caruso, STS Director of Information Security

“One of the biggest challenges for STS is to create a robust, and sustainable information security program which supports our customer's mission. The threat environment changes daily, our adversaries only have to get it right once. At STS, cybersecurity is everyone's responsibility,” says Chris Caruso.

As the Director of Information Security and Physical Security at a medium sized growing business, Chris drives the development, execution, and overall management of proactive and predictive risk programs and security strategies dedicated to protecting the company's people, property, information, and reputation. Formerly, Chris was the U.S. Secret Service's top cyber and financial fraud investigations leader, with over twenty-one years of progressive responsibility and experience in law enforcement operations. If you are a small or mid-sized business interested in the state of cybersecurity, please join us August 21, 2018, from 8:00 - 10:30 a.m. This event is open to the public.
