

Scott Damron Shares Valuable Business Advice With Young Aspiring Entrepreneurs

An Atlanta-based serial entrepreneur has committed a portion of his time to offer advice and motivation to young entrepreneurs and business owners in the area.

ATLANTA, GA, UNITED STATES, August 9, 2018 /EINPresswire.com/ -- Experienced executive Scott Damron has a demonstrated history of success in the hospital and healthcare industries, as well as in business development, marketing strategy, sales, and entrepreneurship.

"I'm a long-standing member of the Entrepreneurs' Organization, as well as the Young Presidents' Organization, or YPO," Damron reveals. "I believe in giving something back, and if I can help others by sharing my experiences and successes, I absolutely will."

Scott Damron has served as a C-level executive for numerous successful national and international organizations in addition to financing and founding his own highly successful projects.

One such example is ASP Global, founded by the entrepreneur and providing medical and surgical supplies, custom products, and patient preference items to the healthcare profession. "By offering control over cost and product design, we set out to help our clients in the healthcare sector to reach their savings targets and exceed patient experience goals," explains Damron.

A privately-held, Atlanta-based business with further operations in the Pacific Rim, Scott has since sold his interest in ASP Global to focus on other projects. One of these projects, with which the experienced executive and entrepreneur are now involved, is Victory Sales, Inc.

"Victory Sales, Inc. is one business in which I'm currently invested," Damron explains. "Right now, I'm working with them on an innovative solution to help set up a global distribution strategy for branded footwear."

It's this passion for innovation and a forward-thinking approach to business which has seen Scott Damron succeed in life. "Essentially it's this passion and approach which I want to share with young entrepreneurs and business owners," he points out. "It's not typically something which is taught in schools, colleges, or universities, but it's something which experienced mentors such as myself can share with groups like YPO and the Entrepreneurs' Organization."

Founded in 1987, the Entrepreneurs' Organization's core values include trust and respect, and a thirst for learning. "In business, as in life, integrity is everything," says Damron. "Within the Entrepreneurs' Organization, trust and respect are essentially the basis for their code of conduct."

"Meanwhile," he adds, "a thirst for learning leads to an open mind, and an open mind leads to greater opportunities, both personally and professionally."

Of YPO, Damron says of the 68-year-old organization, "YPO empowers more than 25,000 members in over 130 countries. We're a collective of peer leaders, committed to lifelong learning and the exchange of ideas while simultaneously fostering a safe haven of trust, respect, and confidentiality for our community."

So, what one piece of advice would serial entrepreneur Scott Damron gave to those looking to achieve great success in life?

"Never stop learning," he suggests, wrapping up, "and always be willing to share what you've learned with others, so that the cycle may continue."
