Lively and Fun Promotional Tools

Whether it is because of their colorful material, or the fact that they rise in the air, it is clear that balloons are both lively and fun. They also represent novelty, and something that is out of the ordinary. Balloons that are bright are especially positive and exciting.

Children especially enjoy balloons. For example, children who are visiting your school's open house with their parents would have a better experience if they noticed fun, gleaming balloons. If these balloons were ordered from a qualified custom printer, such as CSA Balloons, your school would be represented by the positivity of balloons.

There is no doubt that balloons are superior as promotional tools, especially when your school wants to create a joyful atmosphere.

Environmentally Friendly Balloons

In a world where the environment is a growing concern, it is important that your school demonstrates the correct attitude during an open house. It is the duty of schools to reduce our environmental footprint. When ordering custom balloons, there is no better way to do this than choosing CSA Balloons' 100% natural latex balloons.

As it is said on the CSA Balloons website, "Made from natural and biodegradable latex, our printed balloons are renowned for their superior quality." A combination of organic ingredients and water create latex balloons. The latex itself is taken from a tree in a process that can be compared to that of fetching maple syrup.

Latex-Free Options

Some public institutions, such as schools and hospitals, are restricted from using latex balloons.. This is because latex-related allergies are becoming more common. While latex balloons are excellent quality, they may not be the right fit if you would like to take some extra precautions during your school's event.

Mylar balloons are 100% recyclable.

CSA Balloons also offers Mylar balloons. Mylar balloons are made from foil, and are not known to cause any allergies. As is stated on the CSA Balloons website, Mylar balloons (or foil balloons) are 100% recyclable, as well as being “dynamic and unique”, with a longer duration and floating time.

Mylar balloons are a crisp and bright alternative for any school during their event.
