

Gourmet Living Offers Sliced Truffles Preserved in Oil at Promotional Price

Enjoy the Distinct Flavor of Italian Truffles the Year Round with Sliced Truffles Preserved in Sunflower Oil at a Special Introductory Price

GREENWICH, CT, UNITED STATES, August 15, 2018 /EINPresswire.com/ -- Gourmet Living is proud to offer special promotional pricing this month on its best-selling Truffle Carpaccio. "Tartufi Scorzone" or summer truffles are sourced in the foothills of Tuscany, Italy and then sliced and preserved in sunflower oil.

Until the end of the August, buyers can purchase Gourmet Living's Truffle Carpaccio at the special promotional price of $21.95 on Amazon compared to its regular price of $24.95.

Truffles are probably one of the most sought after culinary delicacies in the world. Sadly, fresh truffles have a shelf life of not more than two weeks. Unless one happens to be in Italy or France during the truffle season, you are likely to find yourself out of luck.

While fresh truffles over pasta certainly trumps any preserved variation, fresh truffles are very expensive and tend to disappear quickly during the truffle season. Dried truffles or truffles preserved in a neutral tasting sunflower oil are the next best alternative.

Summer truffle carpaccio is my 'go-to' hostess gift. It is small yet packed with the distinctive flavor of truffles. Fellow gourmands will sing your praises.”

Sheila May

Working with a small family-owned company in Tuscany, Italy, Gourmet Living has created its own brand of preserved summer truffles to enjoy the distinct flavor of truffles the year round.

Says co-owner Sheila May, "I love entertaining guests with truffle carpaccio which I spread on crackers or a thin slice of baguette. This is a special appetizer! The aroma of truffles can be overpowering, so a little bit goes a long way."

Whether you plan to use truffles as an appetizer or as the highlight of the meal, Gourmet Living's truffle carpaccio will be a welcome treat for fellow gourmands. Given its size, Truffle Carpaccio is
