Based in England, CEO Today Magazine is an international publication dedicated to providing CEOs and C-level executives with the latest corporate developments, business news and technological innovations. According to CEO Today Magazine, their team identifies and honors the most respected executives who lead the way on a global stage. Their annual awards continue to reward and celebrate the leadership and strategic vision of executives across a number of sectors, such as healthcare, to identify the most successful, innovative and forward-thinking executives in business today.

Our company has grown since we started working with Bret and he has anticipated our needs and provided the best resources and options for our company at every stage.”

Healthcare Award nominations were open worldwide to the entire readership of CEO Today and all C-level executives, business owners, consultants, entrepreneurs and those operating within the healthcare space. Researchers at CEO Today determined the eventual winners based on the nomination data received and the achievements of individual consultants. Achievements were defined and scored upon the following criteria: involvement in significant performance improvements, expansion into new markets, recognized results achieved for shareholders and patients, innovation in patient care, innovative products and services development, performance improvement of existing services, procedures and pharmaceuticals, new medicines/services, new business model, and strategy.

Bret Brummitt has exhibited many of these criteria in his roles in the insurance industry for almost 22 years. He specializes in employee benefit strategies, insurance education, employee communication, budget forecasting, data analysis, technology evaluation, human resource support and payroll integration. His skillset and passion for problem solving are just a subset of characteristics that make him successful. In his own words, he is a "doer, deep thinker, fixer of health plans." Bret is humbled and grateful for this esteemed recognition from CEO Today Magazine, "My career as a benefits design consultant has been an amazing journey that has allowed me to grow and develop not only technically and strategically within the realm of benefits consulting, but it has been a privilege to be trusted with a leadership role at the same time. My greatest pleasure is watching the development of our team and seeing them become the champions of change when they identify a recurring problem for our clients that we can collaboratively fix."
