DALLAS, TEXAS, UNITED STATES, August 20, 2018 /EINPresswire.com/ -- Recently, Davis & Associates founder, Garry Davis was featured in an article by The Shorthorn, the main news source of the University of Texas at Arlington since 1919.

The Shorthorn was looking for expert opinions on President Trump's new executive order to be used in a feature article.

The article included perspectives from 3 sources, Davis (an immigration expert); a political science expert; and an immigrant to the United States who is experiencing the effects of Trump's policy first hand.

Davis acknowledged the negative impact of the status quo and said, "I think it is very difficult for the government to balance between discouraging people from coming here and breaking the law, and providing an opportunity to people that have legitimate reasons to leave their country and apply for political asylum..."
