Telnyx Releases Total Toll-Free Search

CHICAGO, ILLINOIS, USA, August 21, 2018 /EINPresswire.com/ -- On Monday, Telnyx released the first toll-free number search with access to any available toll-free number on the market. Telnyx—the world's first full-stack, self-service communications platform—has built an integrated search that can access and provision numbers from the general NPAC database. Now, Telnyx users can search for vanity toll-free numbers by prefix or by contained alphanumeric words or number blocks and find a full accounting of matches.

Telnyx was able to develop these features because of its status as a certified RespOrg. RespOrg are licensed carriers that can control and change the routing templates of toll-free numbers. They also retain access to NPAC databases and information.

"By combining our full-stack approach to retaining as much control as possible over our carrier infrastructure with self-service approach to empowering users to create and configure their own services, Telnyx has created one of the most robust and resilient toll-free services in the industry," said COO, Ian Reither.

Users can now find, provision and spin up vanity numbers in seconds from the Telnyx toll-free page. A toll-free number can forward calls to any number globally, set up on a SIP trunk connection or attached to a Telnyx Programmatic Call Control API for more granular control. Additionally, any toll-free number can apply SMS for branded text messaging with better conversion rates.
