WATERFORD, MICHIGAN, USA, August 21, 2018 /EINPresswire.com/ -- A service disabled veteran owned company, Contract Professionals, Inc. (CPI) was recently named one of 2018 Cool Places to Work in Michigan. Ranking in the top 20, this is the third year in a row that CPI has made the list.

Launched in 2012 by the Crain Content Group, the awards program was designed to identify, recognize and honor the top 100 best places of employment in Michigan, benefiting the state's economy, its workforce and businesses.

The genesis of the 2018 Cool Places to Work in Michigan program is about recognizing a diverse group of Michigan companies, all of whom are making an effort to attract and retain top talent by providing competitive benefits and company perks.

According to CPI's Founder and CEO, Steve York, CPI has always been a cool place to work. "When I started CPI, I wanted to create an organization, which placed an emphasis on treating my employees like family. More than that, I wanted to create an environment, which allowed people to exercise their independence and creativity," said York.

Fostering a productive work environment is particularly important to York because of the nature of CPI's mission. For more than 36 years, CPI has been working to find our nation's veterans employment opportunities. Led by York, the entire CPI team takes this job very seriously.

Today, CPI's President, James L. Cowper insists on following in York's footsteps. "I work closely with our human resources team to ensure that CPI stays at the forefront of progressive employee engagement programs," said Cowper.

Each year the CPI management team looks for new and exciting ways to create a fun, innovative and flexible work environment. Both York and Cowper understand that when people are given the freedom to create and be productive, everybody wins.
