

Majestic Electronics Launches European Operation with UK opening

Earlier this year Majestic established their office in London and warehouse in Birmingham to make the range of products available in Europe for the first time.

LONDON, UNITED KINGDOM, September 2, 2018 /EINPresswire.com/ -- Majestic were the first to develop a 12 Volt LCD TV specifically for the Marine environment in 2000, since then Majestic has been the global leader in developing the latest in 12 Volt Entertainment products for both Marine and R.V. markets. During this time Majestic has expanded from their Australia home into New Zealand and a few years later to the USA. Earlier this year Majestic established their office in London and warehouse in Birmingham to make the range of products available in Europe for the first time.

I am very excited about attending this year's METS show in Amsterdam to add to the distribution coverage we have already established”

Matthew Forbes

Part of the expansion program has been to assemble an experienced team with the ability to effectively educate the UK and European markets about Majestic and the state of the art technology they develop. As part of this team Matthew Forbes will be running the European business and developing a distribution network. “Since coming onboard with Majestic I can fully appreciate why this company leads the area of 12 Volt LED TV technology in the Marine and RV industries throughout the world. The engineering team listen to the market to develop features the customers and the OEM industry really want. I am very excited about attending this year's METS show in Amsterdam to add to the distribution coverage we have already established.”

Majestic Electronics has also fully revamped their website to integrate their global operations into one portal which now provides easy access for their dealers to log in and have complete transparency of their account and monitor stock levels. The website also includes a complete list of stocking dealers worldwide and this list is constantly expanding as more dealers sign up with Majestic.

Currently Majestic has established some of the best retailers of caravan accessories as stockists in the UK, dealers such as Kimberley Caravans in Darlington and Nottingham, Motorhome Service Center in Perth Scotland, United British Campers in New Castle, Carrick Caravans Yorkshire, Norwich Camping Blofield, Robinsons Caravans Chesterfield and many others.
