

Figure Right introduces a new lingerie collection for voluptuous natural looking women.

BRISTOL, AVON, 262, September 4, 2018

/EINPresswire.com/ -- Zdenka Smith from Figure Right is releasing the brand new collection Put the fizz back in to your bubble , and each product will be individually made by the designer herself. The collection will be released on 12.9.2018.

Thus, for the first time , Zdenka Smith has created an entire product line of her favourite and most popular styles and incorporated them into the collection.

The collection will be exclusively sold on the website where the limited products are scheduled to sell out by end of the season.

Figure Right lingerie and nightwear is a evolution revolution of voluptuous women, making them feel confident and natural.

Some products are made from microfiber fabric and lace which has been chosen for its visual and caressing qualities. The cups are fully lined for extra support, movement and the perfect fit.

Zdenka Smith is excited to welcome her fans to her new handmade product line collection they have been requesting.

About Figure Right

Zdenka Smith started Figure Right because she was frustrated with the clothing discrimination. She quickly realised that a large percentage of women are not catered for in the lingerie department. She found it impossible to find correct fitting and sexy lingerie for the larger natural looking women up to 10XL. This unfairness is what drove her to design and make the perfect FigureRight lingerie.
