-- How A Prediction Exchange Is Changing The Game... Forever.

Ninja is a peer-to-peer decentralized prediction exchange - no bookies or books. We got rid of the middlemen, and then we put it on the blockchain. This allows users to safely place their bets, with their money safe and secured with the beauty of the smart contracts.

Why did we do it?

People love to place bets (online, brick and mortar, casually between friends) whether it's on Trump building a wall or if Vitalik Buterin will jump ship to Google.

But they are currently forced to use bookies, gaming apps, hand over their data and pay ridiculous fees. As the saying goes "the house always wins", we decided that it was time to change that.

It's a huge, broken industry. We are currently at the bookie's mercy, being forced to pay high fees, use the ridiculous margins, being limited to what we can bet on and handing over all of that highly valuable personal data. Then, of course, there are scams, with millions and millions of dollars being lost every year. People are creating fake betting slips, scamming people out of their hard-earned cash and getting away with it. Then, of course, everyone has that friend that refuses to payout.

So we decided to build Ninja - a platform where we can create our own odds, play against our peers, enjoy guaranteed payouts, not fall victims to scams and stop handing over our data.

We really value privacy and we wanted to create a platform where people could come and not have to worry about login details, remembering a password, downloading an app, giving their first born and handing over their data, just to have all that juicy information sold to the highest bidder.

All of our users have 100% ninja anonymity. There are no downloads, no sign-ups, you log in with your secured private key and we don't hold any of your data. Our ninjas are also able to create their own odds, without limits-if you side with John McAfee and you want to predict that Bitcoin is going to the moon and will be worth $5 million in 2020, then you can place that bet on Ninja; we are pretty sure there is someone out there who will want to take that bet.

Ninja holds your money and as soon as the outcome has been verified (by a reputable news source) that money is released. Cutting the payout time from days to minutes.

Feel free to get in touch, we're super excited to hear your thoughts.
