HumanaCare*

HumanaCare is making the platform available through a number of key partnerships to more than 1.3 million Canadians. Individuals and their families will be able to access counselling and therapy services virtually, from wherever is convenient for them.

"We are excited to begin delivering our suite of health services virtually. This technology platform improves access, outcomes and the customer experience. A significant number of Canadians can now benefit from the easy to use interface to receive the support they need to solve real life concerns," said Jamie Marcellus, President of HumanaCare.

"HumanaCare is continuing to develop our capabilities to expand access to virtual care services in areas such as Disability Management, Medical Second Opinion, Caregiver Support, Health Care Navigation and Chronic Disease Management Services. Our customers have embraced our focus on innovation, outcomes and service experience and our continued focus will support our position as a Canadian leader in organizational health services," said Marcellus.

The previously announced acquisition closed on May 8, 2018.
