Running Wild Press will release the second in the Magic series by Jack Hillman.

LOS ANGELES, CA, USA, September 8, 2018 /EINPresswire.com/ -- On September 15, Running Wild Press will release the follow up novel in the Magic series by Jack Hillman entitled Magic Forbidden.

Dan and Thook were an unusual Pair. Dan was a freelance writer who had been paralyzed from the waist down in a car accident. Thook was a human wizardess, a descendant of people taken to another dimension when the Sidhe left Britain several hundred years ago. One of Thook's magic students has been infected with a drug that drains her life. Now Dan and Thook must discover who is using forbidden magic to control humans, but the nefarious ones have made a mistake. They are using an ancient chemical process that includes philosopher's stone, a compound made from dragon's blood. Dan and Thook must find the source of the magically enhanced drug and stop the men making it with the help of the Mother of Dragons.

A lifelong Pennsylvania resident, Jack began a love of books sitting amid the mystery of hospitals and medical paraphernalia. Mythology of all cultures and a fascination with martial philosophies led to King Arthur, the knights of the round table and an array of science fiction and fantasy authors that had a strong impact on his life.

With experience as a journalist, short story writer, playwright and novelist, Jack often speaks at writer's conferences, to writer's groups and to school gatherings. If you are looking for a speaker on esoteric subjects, Jack probably has something tucked away in a folder for the occasion. He lives in eastern Pennsylvania with his supportive wife, a squad of feline editors, and an array of edged weapons to inspire his works
