

Tone Loc joins the cast of the new animated series, Hollywould

NORTH HOLLYWOOD, CA, UNITED STATES, September 11, 2018 /EINPresswire.com/ -- Gas Money Pictures today announced the addition of rapper Tone Lōc to the cast of the animated series HOLLYWOULD.

[LOS ANGELES (SEPTEMBER 10, 2018)] – Tone Lōc is joining Corin Nemec (Parker Lewis Can't Lose/Stargate SG-1), David Faustino (Married with Children/Dragons: Race to the Edge) and Jenny Curtis (Modern Family/Any Bullet will Do) in the animated adult-themed comedy, which follows the antics of literal fruits, nuts and flakes that inhabit the world of HOLLYWOULD.

In the Studio with Gas Money Pictures

Tone Lōc rose to superstardom in 1988 with the release of the multi-platinum song WILD THING, followed in 1989 by FUNKY COLD MEDINA, both from his debut album, Lōc-ed After Dark. Recently Lōc has lent his vocal talent to such hit shows as King of the Hill, Chowder, and Uncle Grandpa.

“His incredible, unique voice is impossible to miss,” said Bills of working with the rap legend, “we’ve thought about Tone Lōc in this role since the beginning, and we are fortunate enough to have made it happen”.

The much-anticipated series, which was previewed at the 2018 Cannes Film Festival Marche' Du Film was created by James L. Bills. Hollywould is animated by Gas Money Pictures entirely in their North Hollywood studio with veteran Jesse Yang supervising animation. Paul C. Norman is Executive Producer while Bills and J. Horton are Producing.

Tone Lōc is represented by Abrams Artists Agency.
