IT Governance launches free webinar series exclusively for Gulf region

DUBAI, DUBAI, UNITED ARAB EMIRATES, September 13, 2018 /EINPresswire.com/ -- Dubai, United Arab Emirates, 13 September 2018 – For Gulf-based organisations facing an increase in data breaches, and the financial and reputational punishments that come with it, IT Governance is here to help with a free ISO 27001 webinar series designed to support organisations comply with relevant laws and regulations.

The series kicks off on 10 October 2018 with a webinar focusing on the data security laws and regulations with which Gulf-based organisations must comply.

'How to overcome data security compliance challenges in the GCC countries' will be presented by IT Governance Founder and Executive Chairman Alan Calder and will cover:

- The cyber risk landscape and the latest cyber security and data protection laws in the GCC (Gulf Cooperation Council) countries;
- How to achieve compliance and reduce your liability in the event of a data breach;
- The link between information security and cyber security;
- The top risks that result in data breaches;
- How an ISMS (information security management system) works; and
- How ISO 27001 compliance can help you improve your information security posture.

If you are interested in joining this webinar, register here.

Alan Calder said: "This is yet another exciting milestone for IT Governance as we bring our established webinars from the UK to the Gulf. These webinars are designed to inform information security professionals of the increasingly stringent data security laws and regulations both in the GCC countries and internationally. You will learn how an ISMS can help you mitigate breaches and meet a host of regulatory and legal data security compliance requirements."

Following these webinars IT Governance Gulf will continue to expand its presence in the region with classroom courses set to become available in Dubai this coming November. Head to our website to discover all the information on our Gulf classroom courses.
