Facial hair have become scientifically proven to make men more attractive. Not only that, but there are also plenty of hidden benefits on health as some studies

ISTANBUL, MERTER, TURKEY, September 21, 2018 /EINPresswire.com/ -- Facial hair has become scientifically proven to make men more attractive. Not only that, but there are also plenty of hidden benefits on health as some studies found that beard can block up to 95% of the harmful UV rays, as well as protecting you from basal-cell carcinomas (skin cancer) and also inhibit noticeable signs of aging around your face, head, and neck. Having a beard can also work as a filter especially if you suffer from dust or pollen allergies.

But, what if you were born without the genes to grow a full beard? Here's one piece of reassuring news: You were born at the right time to fix that!

Like Hair Transplant, beard transplant has become a new fashion around the world. With the use of Follicular Unit Extraction (FUE) technique, experienced doctors pick grafts from areas in your head that are resistant to male pattern balding and transfer it onto areas of your face where hair is absent, the operation lasts up to 4 hours depending on how many grafts need to be transplanted, but in order to get perfect natural look, you need to be under skilled hands who understand the aesthetics and patterns of male beard growth.

According to research, almost 70% of beard transplant patients prefer to go to Turkey. For instance, Natural Hair Turkey's experts who are specialized in hair and beard transplant, say that: "Most of our beard transplant patients are coming from many regions around the world because, we have some original solutions that fit their situations, and if the patient comes for beard transplant it takes him only 3 days to go back to his normal life, but the most important thing is that we are using FUE technique, by using this technology the discomfort and signs of surgery will disappear in one week and the patient will have a natural looking results."
