Daniel Waite is assembling a strong team to launch a multi-platform asset holding company while developing an online presence that gives something back.

DALLAS, TX, USA, October 2, 2018 /EINPresswire.com/ -- Daniel Waite has seen some extreme highs and lows over his professional career, all while building a storied resume and a cache of business associates and business interests. After years of persevering, working, succeeding, and even overcoming hardships, Waite is ready to put all of his interests together to launch a diverse holding company and to give something back to the Dallas/Fort Worth community from his efforts. With the development of Waite Enterprises and the launch of an altruistic online platform designed to help many in need in the coming years the young entrepreneur is starting to put his plans into action.

Waite has been most recently working in the health sector as managing partner of Value Based Data, LLC, a leading specialized healthcare data company, and as part owner of a Dallas contracting company. The lifelong entrepreneur, Waite also has years of experience in healthcare, fitness, investor relations, and leading contracting companies.

Waite is now assembling an even stronger leadership group that will help lead Waite Enterprise and its underlying subsidiaries. He has started with a top tier compliance officer, Roberto Saenz, a 20 year veteran with the Department of Justice and the U.S. House of Representatives. "You get the experts to handle any areas you have less experience in." Waite reiterates, "Compliance will be the cornerstone of all our business efforts. There are few people with more experience with compliance and the law than Roberto Saenz!"

The holding company will invest in various healthcare companies, contracting companies, data companies, independent projects, commodity assets and even a cryptocurrency platform. It will also donate part of their proceeds to the altruistic web platform that Waite has launched. That website will give back to the elderly and children of those who have endured adversities like Waite had to deal with personally during his early start in business.

About DanielDwaite.com:

Daniel Waite.com is an online platform that will chronicle the philanthropic work of Mr. Daniel D. Waite, CEO of Waite Enterprises, Inc. This platform will work to help the elderly and impoverished victims who have suffered from financial scams and crashes.
