Seda's Printing offers the most competitive prices for printing in Los Angeles. If you can find it cheaper they will try to match your price. Seda's also offer presentation folders, sell sheets, rack cards, table tent cards, wall graphics, vinyl banners, window clings, postcards, color envelopes, door hangers, and mailing services.

Seda's Printing uses soy based ink and recycled paper, allowing them to reduce their production costs and pass on these savings to customers while keeping our environment cleaner!

Seda's Printing also offers specialized graphic design services. They have a team of skilled and experienced graphic designers who turn your ideas into printed masterpieces. As experienced typesetters, Seda's Printing can handle corporate requirements and multiple languages. Their pre-press department reviews the client's artwork to ensure that all files are press ready. They press-check the project for accuracy and then proceed to the manufacturing stage once everything is finalized.

Seda's Printing has access to high-quality scanning equipment that allows them to produce excellent results from the originals sent by the client. Making it easy to communicate even if you are not local. They use the latest software available to complete your projects to the highest quality. The company's printing services include; color correction, spot color, 4-color offset, letterpress, 4-color digital, typesetting, foil stamping, embossing, scanning, and graphic design. Offset printing produces bright, accurate colors and high-quality images with fine details and sharp typefaces.

The company also offers thermography, a printing process wherein a special powder is added to the paper. The powder adheres to the ink printed on the document. The excess powder is removed, and the printed paper is heated. When the ink and power mixture dries, it forms a raised shiny effect on the paper.

Seda's Printing can also create 3D designs on paper through embossing. It can be done on plain paper or mixed with foil, images or ink for special effects. Those who need large printed materials can also benefit from the company's large format printing services. It is ideal for creating decorative or creative marketing ideas like stands, canvases, banners, posters, foam boards and window clings.
